

BOY IN GIRL'S ATTIRE ATTRACTS THE MASHERS

Student Plays Prank, "Bewitches" a Professor and Scandalizes College Town.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., April 14.—The town is laughing at the prank of Harry Jones of Gaffney, a student in the preparatory school of Wofford College, who, while masquerading last night as a girl, received attention from one of his young professors, scandalizing the people at a Sunday school social which he attended by the height at which he held up his gown, and caused the arrest of a professional ball player and a college student who tried to flirt with him.

Jones is sixteen years old, slender and fresh faced. As a joke he togged himself from head to foot in feminine attire provided by some girl friends. With a wig added, his disguise was perfect enough to make Julian Eltinge look to his fame.

Professor His "Captivity."

The girls took him to a church affair, introducing him as Miss Price of Gaffney. It was not long before one of his instructors in the preparatory school, completely deceived, was pouring sweet nothings in his ears.

"Miss Price" held aloof from the young women, but entered a room where some of the young men were gathered and diverted and at the same time shocked them by her free and easy manners.

"She" then left the company and took a stroll through town. Passing a group of ball players in front of the Argyle Hotel "she" flashed a smile at them, and one followed "her" and made advances. "She" called a policeman and had the man arrested as a "masquerader." He pleaded so hard to be released, however, that "she" yielded, and the policeman turned him loose.

Causes Another Arrest.

"Miss Price" then walked to the Southern Railway station and with another winning smile captivated an upper classman of Wofford College. "She" had him arrested, too, but again relented when he likewise made a pitiful plea.

Some classmates, who had been taken into the secret, today disclose the hoax.

NEWS OF ROCKVILLE AND THE COUNTY

Attempt to Poison Family of Franklin Gue—High School
Ball Game.

Special Correspondence of The Star.

ROCKVILLE, April 14, 1911.

Several days ago some members of the family of Franklin Gue, a farmer of Damascus district, became ill after drinking milk. An investigation led to the belief that poison had been put into the milk while in the dairy on the farm.

The matter being brought to their attention, the county commissioners offered a reward of $150 for information leading to the arrest of the guilty person.

F. Hazel Cassell of the vicinity of Redland, has bought the farm of the late James G. Cassell for $17,000. It contains 200 acres and adjoins the farm on which Mr. Cassell lives, giving him in all 400 acres.

Rockville Beats Washington.

The Rockville High School baseball team won its first game of the season at the fair grounds here yesterday afternoon by defeating the Eastern High School team of Washington 3 to 2 in a tenning contest. Both teams played a ball throughout. Whiteford, who was in the box for Rockville, pitched his first game of the year, and put up a creditable performance. With the score standing 2 to 1 against them at the beginning of the last half of the tenth inning, the Rockville boys got busy with their bats and scored the required two runs before a man had been retired. Rockville made nine hits and the errors and Eastern nine hits and four errors. The batteries were Whiteford and Hays for Rockville and Legion and Parker for Eastern.

John T. Ricks, a colored resident of John Orchard, this county, was before Justice Reading in one police court here yesterday on a charge of cruelty to animals. He was adjudged guilty and fined $10 and costs. It was shown that Ricks drove a horse that was weak from old age and disease that it collapsed on the road. Ricks noted an appeal.

Representative Littlepage of West Virginia introduced a bill yesterday to regulate traffic in cold storage food products. The measure would make it necessary to brand and adulterated beef and beef products which remains seven months or more in cold storage; veal, four months; pork, four months; sheep, four months; lamb, three months; poultry, game, fish and butterine, three months. The penalty provided for each violation is a fine of from $100 to $5,000 and imprisonment from six months to ten years.

Recession to District.

Representative Hayes of California yesterday reintroduced the bill which he offered in the Sixty-first Congress providing for the recession by Virginia to the District of the territory comprised within the original limits of the District, but which was ceded back to the state by the federal government in 1846.

Representative Madden of Illinois introduced a bill to establish a national memorial home for aged and infirm people and homeless colored people in the District. The measure provides that the sum of $200,000 formerly in the hands of the Commissioners of the Freedmen's bureau, but later paid back into the Treasury, be appropriated for the purpose.

Preservation of Doric Columns.

Representative Sulzer of New York, chairman of the foreign affairs committee, introduced a bill directing the Secretary of the Treasury to secure the twenty-nine Doric columns which have been replaced by monoliths on the east front of the Treasury building and construct of them in Potomac Park "a colonnade, stately, ample and of course, Mr. Ellis could not make this an encyclopedic treatise so as to cover them all, but he has shown some of the essentials in an exceedingly instructive and entertaining manner.

Stage Dress Secrets.

Melville Ellis, who is one of the costume experts in New York theaters, contributes an illuminating article on "Secrets of Stage Dress" which will be of value to every fair reader of our Sunday Magazine. It is astonishing what a lot of things are necessary in sartorial embellishment to bring out the best in womanly beauty, and, of course, Mr. Ellis could not make this an encyclopedic treatise so as to cover them all, but he has shown some of the essentials in an exceedingly instructive and entertaining manner.
